RETURN OF THE GATES COMIC OFFRA COM-PANY. -- To-morrow evening Mrs. James A. Oates and her charming Comic Opera Company will commence a second engagement at the Theatre this season. The repertoire for the week is as follows: Thursday, The Pretty Perfumer; Friday, La Grande Duchesse; Saturday (matiré.), Madam Angot's Child; Saturday night, Les Bavards and Tried by Jury. Mrs. Oates is a great favorite here, and it will no doubt afford her many friends great pleasure to give her a very cordial greeting.

THE BARK- AND SUMAC-MILL NEARLY RE-BUILT .- The rebuilding of the large barkand sumac-mill, across the basin, is pearly completed. It has been shortened somewhat on the roof, and the smoke-stack of the engine will be carried about thirty feet above the apex of the roof. The proprietors will start to work in a couple of weeks, by which time they will have their machinery in place. This mill, it will be remembered, was destroyed by fire last summer.

SYNOD OF VIEGINIA.

NIGHT SESSION. A committee on the Virginia Bible Society appointed this morning presented a report ommending this cause to our churches.

The report was offered by the Rev. C. R. Vaugban, D. D., chairman of the committee. The Rev. M. W. Staples, agent of the Bible Society, spoke in support of the cause. He was followed by the Rev. T. L. Preston, who presented the claims of the Bible cause to the attention of our churches. The substance of the report is as follows: The Committee on the Virginia Bible Society call the attention of the Synod to the resolution adopted by this body at their session in Winchester last year, and urge that the recommendation for a collection on the third Sabbath of January in all our churches be faithfully carried out.

DISMISSION PROM THE MINISTRY. It should be stated in this report that there s nothing in the case now before Synod offecting in any way the character or Christian standing of Dr. Ruffaer. The point on which there is difference of opinion, and which led to a discussion of the case last year, and now again this year, is simply this: Had the Lexington Presbytery a right under our constitution, to divest him of his office without any offence? This subject was taken up at 8 P. M. when a motion was made for the adoption of the majority report; and Dr. Brown moved the adoption of the minority report as a substitute.

MAJORITY REPORT. Resolved, That the report of the Committee on the Records of Lexington Presbytery made last year to the Synod at Winchester be adopted.

Signed by Rev. Dr. Lefevre and Rev. J. C. Barr. Judge Inglis, not present at this meeting, also concurs in this report. RESOLUTIONS OF MINORITY REPORT.

1. Resolved, That in view of all the facts and considerations belonging to the case the Synod does not judge it best to disturb the action taken by the Presbytery of Lexington. 2. Resolved. That in view of the whole sulject the General Assembly be, and the same hereby is, respectfully petitioned to send down to the Presbyteries, in such terms as may be deemed most suitable, an overture embracing the questions involved, to the end that the mind of the Church may be clearly ascertained and the law of the Church clearly determined. Signed by Dr. William Brown and Judge

Robert Ould. Several of the members made remarks as to the status of the case and the relation of the two reports to each other. Colonel John T. Anderson said he sustained the action of the Presbytery of Lexington, and wished the sut stitute adopted. Rev. A. W. Pitzer spoke in favor of the minority report. Rev. Dr. Lefevre, who presented the report, was willing to appear as the advocate of the old doctrine of the Church. He wished, however, that this consideration of the report on the records of the Presbytery had not been complicated by a proposition to send an overture to the General Assembly. He hoped this Synod would not depart from the established usage of the Church. He read from the Digest a case similar, as he claimed, to this, in which the Presbytery of New York, in 1783, did what the Lexington Presbytery had done, and the Assembly reversed their action. In 1802 another case occurred in Lewes Presbytery, and the Assembly decided that a minister could not be divested of his office except by deposition, suspension, or censure, after regular trial. A proposition to amend the Form of Government so as to allow a minister to divest himself of the functions of the ministerial office was negatived by the Presbytery. Other acts of the Assembly were cited; the fact that that is the law of the Church, remarks by the Moderator. law is changed. Otherwise we take the "higher-law" position and break through irrevocable. The Rev. William Brown advocated the question, he stated, was whether the Presbytery had a right to remove a minister from upon the "higher-law" ground, but, first, from the Constitution of the Church, and, secondly, from the acts of the Assembly. "Perpetual" as applied to officers in the Form of Government means that these officers shall always exist in the Church. It is provided that the office of a ruling clder shall be perpetual, but we have no right to infer the sume of a minister. It would be unreasonable to disturb an act of the Presbytery on a mere in erence.

ministry. The Rev. S. R. Houston, D. D., said he heard the last sermon Dr. Stiles presided, from the text: "The redemption of the soul is precious." Though preached by him as he was trembling on the brink of the grave it was a discourse of great power. Rev. John N. Clymer spoke of his labors in his pastoral charge at Woodstock, and of the blessed results of that work there and throughout the whole Valley.

in'erence. In the Presbyterian Church the power rests in the Presbytery. Synods and the General Assembly bave the power granted it has limited itself in its constitution.

Now as to the acts of the General Assem-General Assembly could not make a law for tations of the law, whilst entitled to the the Church. As an offset to the case of the Lewes Presbytery, in which the Assembly say it is a Lord's vinegard. principle" of the Church that a minister may not be deposed without offence, he cited from Burd's Digest, page 98, a law of the court ion ye saints of the Lord."

Scotch Church requiring a minister to be deposed"-that is, divested of his officewhen "insufficient for his duties"; but the aged and infirm are expressly excepted. In the other cases cited by Dr. Lefevre it was a demitting of the exercise of the functions of the office, and not of the office itself, that was ac'ed on and negatived. The facts all show a divided state of opinion in the Church on this question. It would therefore be hard to censure a Presbytery for their acts in harmony with one set of opinions. He thought that an overture should be sent to the Assembly to determine what the law is; and he thought it should be determined that the Presbytery has the power claimed. As to "irrevocable vows," the sentiments uttered by the last speaker did not sound proper in a Protestant church. Dr. Brown, in support of his position, read from the writings of Dr. Thornwell to show that ordination is but giving the sanction of the Church to the fact that the person ordained has a divine call to the office. In a call to the ministry, he continued, there is the opinion of the minister himself, the opinion of the Presbytery, and generally of a church, that be is a suitable person for the ministry. Now, when the man discovers his mistake the Presbytery and the church, after longer experience, and with better information than at the time of his admission to office, see that they have com-ROCKLAND LIME-GROUND AND not be placed as pirallel to the case of man sious done the same thing, and gone uncen-sured by the Synod. It had thus, at least, the negative approval of the body. The Synod at 10:40 adjourned till to-mor-

The Synod met at 9 A. M., and was opened with prayer by the Rev. Hugh A. Brown.

A report was presented by the Committee on Systematic Benevolence; which, after some discussion, was recommitted.
